

OKEE!---INDIANS ARRIVING AT MACLEOD FOR BIG CELEBRATION JULY 1-2-3---OKEE!

UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA IS FORMALLY LAUNCHED
WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Toronto, June 10.—Official declaration that the United Church had been constituted was made to the great crowd which almost filled the arena here at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

"I declare," said Rev. S. D. Chown, in an impressive silence, "that the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Congregational Churches of Canada and the Methodist Church, along with the general council of local union churches, are now united and constituted as one church, to be designated and known as the United Church of Canada."

The congregation broke into applause. It was the culmination of many years of negotiation and activity looking to just such a result. Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, Presbyterian moderator, then said: "As the first act of the general council of the United Church now constituted," he said "I move that the American Presbyterian Church of Montreal be hereby admitted to membership in the United Church and its minister, Rev. Richard Roberts, declared a minister of the United Church."

This first act of business of the new church also was approved with applause.

A Memorable Occasion
Rev. Dr. W. H. Warriner, for the Congregationalists, then moved that Dr. Pidgeon conduct the communion service and preside over the afternoon meeting. It was a great and memorable service which saw the union of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists into one denomination. There was the tremendous setting afforded by the grouping of 8000 men and women on the floor and in the galleries of the huge building, surrounding the dignitaries of the occasion grouped on a platform. There was a ritual which with simplicity and the utmost dignity expressed the purposes of the union and the objectives of its followers.

There was a stately roll to the music, the prayers and responses. There was evident great pride in the accomplishment of union and in the knowledge that three denominations of Tuesday were one this following day.

The Leaders
The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Chown of Toronto, general superintendent of the Methodist church, who directed the opening prayer; Rev. Dr. Pidgeon of Toronto, of the Presbyterian church, who conducted the communion; Rev. Dr. Warriner of Montreal, general secretary of the Congregational Union; Rev. C. S. Elsey, who represented the general council of local union churches; and Rev. Prof. S. P. Rose of Montreal, who preached the communion sermon.

By means of amplifiers their voices were carried clearly throughout the building. Behind them on the platform sat several scores of ministers and elders prominent in the uniting denominations and in front were the 350 official delegates to the general council.

Behind the platform was the massed choir of 300 voices, the women a white block in the spacious areas of variegated color. Far to the end of the hall and high in the galleries sat men and women from all parts of Canada to witness the ceremony.

The platform filled and the delegates took their places while the choir and congregation and the processional hymn "The Church's One Foundation."

Dr. Chown pronounced the invocation and the congregation recited the general confession and the Lord's Prayer. Parts of the 118th Psalm were recited, and all stood while the choir sang the Te Deum Laudamus. Dr. Warriner read as the scripture lesson parts of John XVIII.

Church is Consecrated
The congregation stood again while ministers and people declared that this "church of Christ is consecrated."

In turn Dr. Pidgeon, Dr. Warriner, Dr. Chown and Dr. Elsey offered to the United Church the denominations they represented. "Receive ye our inheritance among them that are sanctified" were the words used in each case. The congregation recited in union: "We now, the people of this church of Christ do dedicate ourselves as heirs together of such precious gifts unto the service of Almighty God in his kingdom among men."

Sign Basis of Union
The four official heads signed the "basis of union" with a gold pen, while all stood, and Dr. Chown pronounced the United Church to be constituted.

Through the services of 272 elders it was made possible for almost 6000 persons to partake of communion at the one time. The sermon by Dr. Rose was brief. "There is," he said, "no prayer so fitting to this hour as the humble petition for pardon whatever of vanity, or self-love, or self-will has mingled with lofter motives in bringing us together as denominations into this new fellowship. We must admit that institutionalism runs too readily into selfishness and comes too easily to think of itself as essential. Against this tendency fatal to the realization of the highest good, may God preserve us."

With the singing of a hymn the service concluded and the audience dispersed.

HOT DOG
They sat on the porch at midnight. Their lips were tightly pressed. The old man gave the signal. And the bull dog did the rest.

UNVEILED MEMORIAL TO CANADIAN WOMEN

Ottawa, June 12.—The people of the United States consider that it is a divine dispensation of Providence that they have to the north of them a people who speak the same language and are governed by the same high ideals of public service. This was a striking phrase from the address of Mr. John A. Stewart, of the George Washington-Sugrue Institution which yesterday afternoon presented to the Government of Canada a beautiful memorial in recognition of the services of the women of Canada in the Great War.

The presentation and unveiling ceremony was held in the presence of a distinguished gathering in the statutory hall of the Victoria Memorial Museum. The Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons of Canada, presided and addresses were delivered by the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, and Robert Forke, M.P., in addition to the presentation address by Mr. Stewart.

In making the gift to Canada Mr. Stewart dwelt in a most eloquent way on the self-sacrifice and devotion to duty of the women of Canada during the Great War. He said that the two peoples of the northern half of this continent could learn much from each other. There was, thank God, no jealousy or enmity on the part of the people of the United States towards their brothers north of the line.

Prime Minister Accepts Gift
Following the address of Mr. Stewart, Mrs. Doolittle, national president of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, was called upon to unveil the memorial.

The Prime Minister in accepting the beautiful gift from the Sugrue Institution extended a hearty welcome to the American visitors who had so signally honored the people of Canada. The Prime Minister recalled the presentation of a gift of a similar character from the French nation, and referred to the happy unity existing between the French and English speaking peoples of the country. The French, he said, had had a very close relation with the British people in this country for hundreds of years, but the people of the United States had enjoyed an even more intimate historical relationship. He felt absolutely confident that nothing would ever disturb the happy relations that existed between the two peoples.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen joined with the Prime Minister in extending the country's welcome to the distinguished guests and thanked for the honor they did to the women of the Dominion. The record of the gentler sex in the Great War was one of which any country might be proud, and no token of appreciation by a friendly power could be more highly prized than the splendid gift made by the Sugrue Institution.

Mr. Robert Forke joined with the previous speakers in extending the thanks of the people of Canada to the American visitors.

The memorial presented by the Sugrue Institution in honor of the women of Canada for their services in the Great War is a beautiful piece of work by the famous American sculptor Borglum. The main figure is of bronze mounted on a black ivory pedestal, the whole standing about seven feet high, with exquisitely carved representations of the female figure supporting the burden of the world.

Amongst the United States visitors for the presentation of the memorial in addition to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stewart, were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Turner, Mrs. Murray W. Ferris, Mr. Albert Dues, Mrs. Kennard Thompson, Mrs. Frederick Fetherstonhaugh.

Besides the Prime Minister, the leader of the Opposition and Mr. Forke, many members of the Cabinet, and a distinguished gathering of people prominent in official and social life were present for the occasion.

TWELVE KILLED, THIRTY INJURED IN WRECK IN N.J.

Easton, Pa. June 16.—At least 12 persons were killed and thirty others injured early today when a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train from the west for Hoboken, N.J., was wrecked at Rockport, N.J. Many of the injured were brought to the hospital here, suffering from severe scalds from escaping steam. It was said a number are in a serious condition.

The accident occurred during a severe electrical storm. Seven of the ten cars of the train left the tracks and because of the manner in which the roadbed was torn up it was impossible to determine the cause. Both engineer and fireman were killed.

The 185 passengers on the train were to have sailed today from Hoboken for European countries.

The first coach was hurled half way over the top of the overturned locomotive. Men and women fought madly to work their way out of the coaches. The engine blew up and filled the air with steam. Passengers said they were unable to see more than a foot in front of them.

Correct this sentence: "I don't worry when the kids have the car out," said he, "for they never drive fast."

MACLEOD IS SOLIDLY BACKING
THE BIG EVENT

The Indians have commenced to trek from their reservations to Macleod to take part in the big Indian Celebration here on the first three days of July. On Tuesday of this week a big party, comprising six lodges with complete outfit, arrived in town and are now camped on the river bottom. According to one of the chiefs hundreds of Blackfeet are on their way with full camping outfit.

Word has been received from British Columbia that a large party of Indians are enroute to Macleod from Creston, Cranbrook and other western points.

Over twenty lodges or teepees are on their way from Montana and other points in the States.

Practically the entire population of the Bloods and Peigans will come to Macleod and take part in the big celebration.

It is safe to say that nearly five thousand Indians will participate in the big pageant, racing and rodeo program to be held here on July 1-2-3.

One of the attractions will be the grand pageant that will be held each morning of the three days. Indian life of every description, from the early days to the present time, will be characteristically depicted. There will be the dog travois, horse travois, chiefs, medicine men, warriors, braves, squaws, all in their buckskin, paint and feathers. The big parade will start each morning at 10.30 and will take about an hour to pass along.

There is a big stampede program under the management of Tom Three Persons, champion broncho buster of the West, in which the events are open to the world, with big cash and other prizes offered.

Another feature is the track events that will be held each afternoon. Some of these events are closed for Indians only, and the big Indian Derby that will be run off, will be one of the finest horse races that has been seen in the West.

Every evening there will be dances at the different halls in Macleod, and an all Indian special jazz orchestra from Montana will supply the music.

The entire celebration is under exclusive Indian management and is the first All-Indian show of its kind ever held in Canada.

There will be something doing every minute of the three days. Each morning there will be the grand pageant with its Indian Queen. During the noon hours and in the evenings you can visit the big Indian village, every afternoon there will be the big program of rodeo events and races. There will be music galore, bands and orchestras.

The celebration will be officially opened by the Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of Indian Affairs, on July 1st, at 1 o'clock.

The judges of the pageant are two well known oldtimers of the west, Colonel J. Stamford, of Great Falls, Mont., and Commissioner W. C. Bryan, of the Alberta Provincial Police.

There will be no hold-up prices, and the admission to the grounds will only be a nominal one.

The Indians are hanging out their welcome sign to everyone to attend their big Celebration in Macleod on July 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

The first and only show of its kind ever held.

THE EMPRESS THEATRE -- CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

RAY GRIFFITH FUNNIER THAN EVER IN "THE NIGHT CLUB"

New Paramount by Directors of "Forty Winks" at Rialto Theatre

He idolized one girl and then when she left him at the altar rail he swore off all women—until he met the other "most beautiful girl in the world," anyway.

That's the way we find Raymond Griffith, Paramount's high-hat comedy star in "The Night Club," which will be the feature of the Empress Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next. Griffith is featured in the cast with Vera Reynolds, Wallace Beery and Louise Fazenda.

"The Night Club," written for the screen by Walter Woods from William de Mille's stage play "After Five," is a story of a young idealist who finds himself heir to a cool million, and all he has to do to collect is to marry a certain girl. But that's the catch, for Robert White (Ray Griffith) has just convinced himself that he can get along quite well without association with the charming sex, especially since he was "stood up" by the "only girl" on his wedding day.

But then, circumstances alter cases and when Bob sees the girl in question, it's a different story entirely. He makes some crack about it being an easy way to make a million by marrying the girl, Edith Henderson (Miss Reynolds), over hears him and comes to the conclusion that here is one fortune hunter who is going to get stung.

Bob is completely taken back when he learns what Edith thinks of him and decides to show her he don't give a whoop about the money he is taking in life, in which event the million would go to the girl, according to the will.

Try as he will, every time Bob attempts to make a dramatic exit from the picture the thing turns into a farce and only tends to make him the more ridiculous in Edith's eyes. As a last resort he convinces himself that he is a Spaniard, to kill him before witnesses. In the meantime, White patches things up with Edith and then, when he sees Diablo approaching, he almost passes out completely.

You start laughing with the first reel of "The Night Club" and never let up at a single moment till the final fade-out. You haven't seen a thing in screen comedies till you've seen this one.

LOUISE FAZENDA IN CAST OF "THE NIGHT CLUB"

Louise Fazenda, one of the best known comedienne in motion picture, is featured with Raymond Griffith, Vera Reynolds and Wallace Beery in the cast of the new Paramount picture, "The Night Club," which will be shown at the Empress Theatre on Wednesday next to remain for two days.

In "The Night Club," adapted for the screen by Walter Woods from William de Mille's stage play, "After Five," Miss Fazenda has the role of a Spanish dancer who loves men only when they are angry.

Many of the laughs in the picture are supplied by the scenes between Louise and Ray Griffith, who goes to Spain to get away from women.

Miss Fazenda began her work in motion pictures several years ago as an extra. She began to do bits for Mack Bennett and soon became one of his leading players. She made popular on the screen an original, zig-zag character. In "The Gold Diggers," "The Lighthouse by the Sea," and other recent dramatic pictures, she has scored a brilliant success.

The intention, it is stated, that on each Sunday there is to be held a big regional meeting, and the interesting feature of the statement is that these Sunday meetings will deal with both federal and provincial affairs.

OCTOBER ELECTION?

Montreal, June 12.—In Liberal circles here, says the Gazette, the statement is made that the federal general elections will be held either on October 27 or 28.

These same sources of information at Ottawa will be concluded by the end of this month and that during the month of July the members will be given a rest and a chance to line up their constituents, and that the campaign will be begun in the province on Sunday, August 2.

"THE NIGHT CLUB" FINE
LAUGH FILM

Raymond Griffith at Empress in Latest Paramount Comedy

The "Night Club," a new Paramount comedy featuring Raymond Griffith, that funny fellow with the high hat; Vera Reynolds, Wallace Beery and Louise Fazenda, comes to the Empress Theatre for a run of two days on Wednesday next.

The picture is a screen version of the William de Mille stage play, "After Five," and was co-directed by Frank Urson and Paul Iribe, who made "Forty Winks."

"The Night Club" opens with Griffith at the altar with a girl a head taller than he is. He is just about to say "I do" when a man dashes in and shouts "Stop!" The girl turns around and recognizes the newcomer as her long lost husband and rushes into his arms. Then and there Ray Griffith decides that he is through with all women for good.

Later on his lawyer announces that he has inherited a million dollars from his uncle but to collect the legacy he must marry a certain girl. Griffith decides that no girl is worth a million dollars and tells the lawyer not to slam the door as he goes out.

So it is that Ray, with his uncle's valet who is bequeathed to him as a separate part of the legacy, goes to Europe to find some place where there are few, if any women. They select a little town in Spain, but Griffith's happiness proves short-lived, for women of every description soon seek him out and tend to make life miserable for our "woman-hater."

What happens after that—how he meets "the one girl in the world" proves unusual screen entertainment.

"The Night Club" is claimed to be far funnier than either "Changing Husbands" or "Forty Winks," and everyone knows what they were.

FLY FROM ADVENT BAY IN SEARCH OF AMUNDSEN

S. S. Ingertre, En Route To Spitzbergen, June 11.—Lieut. Lutzow Holm, commander of the naval forces who are on their way to search for the missing Amundsen polar expedition, has received a wireless message from Oslo, the Norwegian capital, stating that the Ingertre will proceed to Advent Bay instead of King's Bay. This is more than double the flying distance to Danes Island from which Amundsen and his five companions hopped off on their flight to the pole.

The message says that the steamer Farm, bearing part of Amundsen's base expedition, will meet the fliers at Advent Bay. Captain Johnsen, of the Ingertre, however, has not been notified of the change in plans and the reason for it is unknown to those aboard the vessel.

MARK SITE OF OLD FORT MACLEOD

The site of historic Fort Macleod, established in the fall of '74 by Col. Macleod and his company of "originals" of the North West Mounted Police, will be suitably marked. This announcement was made in a recent statement by Judge Howay of New Westminster, B.C., western representative of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

In addition to the marking of the site of old Fort Macleod, the site of Fort Calgary, the police post established in 1875, Jasper House, 20 miles below Edmonton, in 1893; and Frog Lake, the scene of the massacre in 1885, will have memorials. At Gleichen a tablet will show where the Blackfeet signed the great treaty.

The foregoing historic spots in Alberta will be marked, also the site of Fort Walsh, a famous police post in the early days. This post was the first established by the advance guard of the mounted police.

AMUNDSEN RELIEF LEAVES KING'S BAY

CANTON FALLS AND ALL
CHINA AFLAME

Shanghai, June 13.—Two thousand troops from the Mukden army of General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian dictator, arrived in Shanghai this morning under command of Gen. Chang's son, Chang Hsueh Giang.

Troops were posted throughout the city and at the boundary of the international settlement which was marked by Chinese flags. Strikes in the industrial plants which started spreading when news of the killing of eight Chinese students in a riot at Hankow was received here, continued to enlarge to day. Local shipping is completely tied up. Hot weather with overcast skies prevailed today.

Canton Falls
Canton, June 13.—The attacking Kwangtung and Cantonese forces under Bodhevik officers, after a fierce attack on the defending Yunnanese forces, today forced them to surrender Canton and imposed extreme cruelties on soldiers and civilian population as well.

A Chinese Protest
Pekin, June 13.—The Chinese government today protested by note to the British legation the recent killing and wounding of Chinese at Hankow. The note emphasized the seriousness of the situation and reserved liberty to demand compensation later. The Chinese note requested the British legation to notify all British consulates to take measures to prevent recurrence of incidents such as took place at Hankow. In referring to the seriousness of the situation at Hankow, the note pointed out that the Shanghai affair is still unsettled.

The judges of the pageant are two well known oldtimers of the west, Colonel J. Stamford, of Great Falls, Mont., and Commissioner W. C. Bryan, of the Alberta Provincial Police.

FRENCH WOULD TROUCE RIFFS

Barcelona, Spain, June 15.—Premier Painleve of France arrived here by airplane this afternoon and departed for Toulouse, France. He is returning from French Morocco to Paris.

Paris, June 16.—The French cabinet today approved Premier Painleve's plans for a quick termination of the Rifian warfare in Morocco and it was announced that French warships had been stationed off the Rifian coast today. M. Painleve arrived from Morocco where he visited the French front, five minutes before the session began.

The premier reported to the cabinet the measures he had taken while in Morocco by which it was hoped to reduce to a minimum the risks and duration of the military operations there.

The nature of the measures was not explained.

It was stated that a joint Franco-Spanish arrangement should be made for patrolling the Rifian coast.

It is generally conceded that M. Painleve stands more firmly as regards the Moroccan question than any of the others his government will have to face in view of the popularity he acquired through bravely the fatigues and dangers of the fight to Morocco and his journey to the zone of fire.

Even the anti-government paper, L'Aviation says the trip was "excellent from all points of view."

WEALTH OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

The Oxford English Dictionary is nearing completion, and Dr. Craigie, co-editor, has given some very interesting details of its compilation in an article contributed to John O'London's Weekly.

This monumental work is contained in ten volumes with a total of fifteen thousand pages, and defines four hundred and twenty thousand words of the English language. More than one and three-quarter million quotations from standard works of literature are given to illustrate the manner in which authors from the eighth century to the present day have used the words.

The colossal nature of the task compelled the committee in charge to ask volunteers to aid them by supplying the needed references, and without the assistance of hundreds of these unpaid workers all over the world to project could not have been carried out.

Men have literally lived and died in this dictionary. Sir James Murray, for example, who died in 1915, had labored continuously on the work for 36 years.

"The Oxford English Dictionary" is a complete record of the English language, historical, literary and etymological.

Who among us will now be bold enough to complain of the poverty of our language? With 420,000 words to draw upon there are surely no such things as inexpressible thoughts.

GOVERNMENTS SHOULD ADVERTISE

William Allen White, Kansas editor, complains that the Government sponges on him. He says his desk is continually cluttered up with circulars, pamphlets and propaganda that Washington fondly believes is going to get into print.

Why Government departments should expect a newspaper to give away its valuable space without payment, is something hard to explain.

Publicity has proved its worth in every industry and business on earth. And there is no reason why legitimate paid publicity should not also be valuable to Government departments.

Instead of wasting public money and flooding the mails with a lot of stuff that is never read and never sees the light of day, governments should put out efficient publicity just like any other organization.

But certainly the newspapers cannot be expected to pay for it.

The newspaper has something to sell. Its space is its bread and butter. Government propagandists should begin to realize that fact.

WORLD SCARCITY IN WHEAT

Blue ruin gentlemen who do not like to see the farmers happy, tell them that high wheat prices cannot last because those prices are supported solely by speculation.

They say that the bottom may drop out of the wheat market any day that some gambling ring wants it to drop.

The farmers should not worry too much about it. There is one factor that will probably hold wheat prices up for years.

Normally, Russia produces one billion bushels of wheat. For the past few years Russian wheat has not been a factor in world markets. Nor will it be a factor for years to come.

That fact alone must bring about a world scarcity of wheat, particularly in face of large population increases and increased wheat consumption among Asiatics.

So long as the scarcity exists, Canadian export wheat will command big prices. With proper selling organization, Canadian farmers will be able to write their own ticket.

HELLO, MR. WORLD

One of the greatest forces for peace in the world today is that little bit of mechanism in a box which you love one night and curse the next and call the radio.

All over North America, including Vancouver, are amateur radio leagues linked up with like bodies in every part of the civilized world.

The world is becoming acquainted with itself. The radio is helping to demolish space and time. And it is barriers erected by space and time that have prevented international understanding in the world up to this time.

Get keen young chaps interested in radio. Get them taking mighty interest in other groups, similarly interested in other parts of the world, and all the machinations of diplomacy will have a hard job persuading these groups to get out and fight each other.

Among the war implements whose export is not forbidden is propaganda.

ONE OF THE SOURCES OF RURAL DISCONTENT

There are contented farmers and there are also those who are discontented and discouraged. Examples of the two classes may be found in any community, often as close neighbors.

There is no occupation more inspiring than farming when once its possibilities for adventure, for personal initiative, for experimental explorations in plant and animal life, and for living the most completely rounded life are realized.

A farmer who, by study, care and selection produces a superior strain of his favorite type of corn, oats, wheat, beans, potatoes or any other crop in which he is interested, has the satisfaction of having done a really creative piece of work which reacts upon himself to his own mental and moral improvement, to say nothing of the pecuniary reward which always comes to the man doing this kind of work.

A writer in the Michigan Farmer directs attention to the effect upon the industry of the man who drags along in rear. The man who simply farms to make money is likely to shift about from one type of farming to another and oftentimes changes from one job to another so that the farming industry, as such, would be really better without such men engaged in it at all.

Such farmers make for no permanency in agriculture, they are little interested in the social and moral life of the country, and, in the long run are, to a great extent, responsible for the rural discontent and for the growing contempt for the things really worth while in connection with farming.

MARKET THE BROILERS

Now is the time to be selling the broilers. If there is a market for these young cockerels see about supplying it. It pays better to sell now, rather than later, all chicks intended for the table, and as for breeds such as the Leghorn, one cannot afford to keep them until fall and then sell for the price of roasters.

If a market is not already arranged, it would be well to see about it at once. Usually the broiler market should not be too far away. The best places to look for customers are as follows (named in order of highest prices): private families, clubs, high-class hotels, summer hotels, high-class boarding houses; dealers, etc.

The best time to sell the broilers is when they weigh from 1 to 2 pounds each. The earlier in the season, the smaller the weight that will be taken, and the larger the price.

The most satisfactory way to market is to kill and dress before shipment, (all but dealers require them dressed), but for longer distances, and in warm weather especially, if sold to dealers, they may go alive.

Before selling the broilers it will pay to give them special feeding for 10 to 15 days. In experiments conducted at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, it was shown that a good feed was made up of equal parts of corn meal, feed flour and middlings. To this was added 15 per cent of tankage (or beef scrap), and the whole mixed with buttermilk. One part of the dry mash to two parts of the milk by weight is the right proportion. This mixture proved better than prepared commercial mixtures and fed three times a day to broilers weighing at the start less than 2 pounds each, gave in 14 days an average gain of a little over ¾ pounds at a cost for feed of less than 5 cents. At the price sold, (50 cents per pound) there was a profit of 29½ cents on the feeding operation.

The feeding in ordinary fattening crates gave slightly better returns than the feeding in pens, and the heavy breeds gave better returns than the light breeds.

Broilers above all classes should be fleshy. Do not market in a thin condition.

Correct this sentence: "I'll fight anybody," said the champion, "winner take all."

At any rate evolution affords a charitable explanation of man's war mania.

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

IRRIGATION OF CROPS

(By A. E. Palmer, Asst. Supt. Dom.
Ex. Farm, Lethbridge, Alberta.)

Summarized under three heads, the direct benefits of irrigation are:
(1) Irrigation increases yields.
(2) Irrigation is an insurance against drought.
(3) Irrigation makes possible diversification of crops.

Diversified farming is a natural corollary of irrigation. Fodder is always assured and experience has proven the value of marketing hay crops through live stock.

Naturally, where water is to be spread with the minimum of effort, the preparation of the land by levelling is of importance. In the newer irrigated tracts of Southern Alberta, there has been little levelling done so far, but as the beginner in irrigation learns his trade, he will appreciate the value of proper land preparation.

Perhaps the most effective work that could be done on the majority of farms would be to see that the ditches are properly placed and well made. As most of land is undulating to a greater or lesser extent, the contour ditch system is usually the most desirable. The system requires, first, the making of ditches on all ridges in the field where the water can be taken, and second, that ditches should be run across the field on contours, or at right angles to the slope below the high line ditches.
These ditches should be spaced at intervals of from 100 feet to 200 feet, depending on the size of stream used, the slope of the land, and the type of soil. As a rule the larger the stream, the steeper the slope, and the heavier the soil, the farther apart the ditches may be spaced.
Where slopes are very steep, however, it may be desirable to place the ditches close together so that the small streams can be used to prevent erosion of the soil, and to give better control.

Up to the present, the flooding system is about the only system of irrigation used in Alberta, except for the limited acreages of cultivated crops that are irrigated by the furrow method, i.e., running the water in furrows between the rows.

When to Irrigate

Several factors influence the number of irrigations required by a crop. Chief among these are the amount of moisture held over in the soil from the previous year, the climatic condition before and during the growing season, the period of plant growth when the water is applied, and the type and fertility of the soil.

While these varying conditions make it difficult to outline in detail an irrigation practice for all conditions, there are a few general rules that would seem safe to follow.
These are based on over twenty years of irrigation experience on the part of farmers in Southern Alberta, and on data obtained at the Lethbridge Experimental Station from detailed irrigation experiments.

(1) The axiom of every irrigation farmer should be to irrigate before his crop needs the water. Crops that start to burn never give a maximum yield.

(2) Fall irrigate all that can be possibly covered. It is a good practice to start the water on the alfalfa and other hay fields as soon as the last cutting of alfalfa is taken off early in September. The hay fields are then usually irrigated by the time the grain and other crops are off the land. As soon as any grain or other field that is to be planted the following spring is clear, the water should be used on such fields in preference to the hay fields, as the hay can be irrigated early the next year before it is possible to put the water on fields that are to be seeded. Stacking of grain to get the land clear for fall irrigation is advisable.

(3) Spring and summer irrigation.

Grain: Good crops of wheat and other grain can be secured on fall irrigated land, without additional irrigation during the growing season. In dry years, additional irrigation may be desirable, usually when the plants are about in the boot stage. If a fall irrigation has not been given, irrigation should begin as soon as the crop is well up if there is much land to cover. In any event, start early enough to make sure that all the grain is watered before any of it starts to burn. Early irrigation does not seem to injure grain, but burning does. It is usually fatal to wait for grain. If the crop is irrigated the rain will not hurt it, but if it is not irrigated and the rain does not come the crop may be lost.

Where the grain is irrigated early, one more application of water about the boot or early flowering stage is generally necessary to obtain a maximum yield. If this second irrigation is required, the water should be applied first to the part of the field that appears to be driest.

Alfalfa: As stated, fall irrigation is good practice on alfalfa. If fall irrigated, another application when the plants are about 12" to 16" high is sufficient for the first crop in a dry year. Another immediately after cutting the first crop, and again when the second crop is about 16" high ensures a heavy second cutting. If fall irrigation has not been done the alfalfa should be irrigated as early in the spring as possible, with subsequent applications as stated above.

Potatoes:—Except in the extremely dry years a fair crop of potatoes can be obtained on fall irrigated land without additional water during the growing season. The yield can often be increased, however, with another irrigation when the plants are starting to bloom, and if the season is very dry additional applications every two weeks until the latter part of August are beneficial.
If the early part of the season is dry, and the land has not been fall irrigated, one light irrigation may be required before the plants come into bloom.

Sunflowers:—The flower is a plant that cannot stand an excessive amount of water. In tests made, a three inch irrigation every three weeks from the time the plants were 4" to 6" high inhibited growth slightly, while applications at two weeks interval were decidedly detrimental.

Wedding Cakes

June has been the favorite month for brides ever since that early English poet wrote his lovely lyric of which the refrain is:

"In the spring time,
The only pretty ring time."

Every issue of the newspapers has something to say about a bride and her entertainment, so it is an appropriate time for wedding cake recipes.

Fannie Farmer's Cake

This is Fannie Farmer's Wedding Cake No. 1. Cream a pound of butter, and add gradually a pound of sugar, beating thoroughly. Separate yolks and whites of a dozen eggs, and beat each, the yolks until thick and lemon colored, the whites till stiff and dry. Add to the butter and sugar mixture. Add a pound of flour, taking out a third of a cup to dredge the fruit with so it will not sink to the bottom of the pan. Before adding the flour, mix and sift with it 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon each of nutmeg, allspice and mace, a tablespoon lemon juice half teaspoon clove ¼ cup brandy (or grape juice). Then add 3 lbs. raisins, seeded and cut in bits, 1 lb.
currants, 1 lb. figs chopped fine, all dredged with the flour saved out for the purpose. When putting the cake mixture in the pan, lay in layers of thin sliced citron cut in strips and dredged with flour. Put in a deep buttered pan covered with buttered paper, steam 3 hrs. and bake 1½ hrs.
in a slow oven, or instead of the steaming and baking, bake 4 hours in a very slow oven. Rich fruit cake is always more satisfactory when done, if part of the cooking has been by steaming.

Bride Cake, 1811

A bride cake recipe from an old red leather book a century old reads as follows: "Take 4 lbs fine flour well dried, 4 lbs. fresh butter, and 1 lb. loaf sugar. Pound and sift fine a quarter of an ounce of mace, the same of nutmeg, and to every pound of flour put 8 eggs well beat up.
Wash 4 lbs. currants, pick them well, and dry them before the fire. Blanch 1 lb. sweet almonds, and cut them lengthways very thin; take 1
lb. of citron, 1 lb. candied orange, the same of candied lemon, and ½ pint of brandy. First work the butter to a cream with your hand, then beat in your sugar ¼ hr., and work up the whites of your eggs to a very strong froth. Mix them with your sugar and butter, beat your yolks ¼ hr. at least, and mix them with the other ingredients. Then put in your flour, mace and nutmeg, and keep beating it well until your oven is ready. Put in your brandy, and beat lightly in your currants and almonds. Tie three sheets of paper around the bottom of your hoop, to keep it from running out, and rub it well with butter. Then put in your cake, and place your sweetmeats in three layers, with some cake between every layer. As soon as it is

Ida Bailey Allen's Cake

Another note quite so elaborate is Ida C. Bailey Allen's Bride's Cake.
Sift together 5 cups pastry flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons of baking powder. Cream together until light 1½ cups butter and 3 cups sugar. Beat 8 eggs thoroughly and add gradually, working in 2 or 3 spoonfuls of the sifted flour at a time. Add a teaspoon each of rose and almond extract, a cup of milk, and the rest of the flour, salt and

Love Cake

A "Love Cake" my grandmother passed into the front of her cook book half a century ago is a far simpler concoction 1½ cups sugar; ½ cup butter, 1 cup sweet milk; 2 cups flour; 2 eggs; 1 teaspoon soda; 2 teaspoonfuls cream tartar; flavor to taste. This also makes a good jelly cake."

Boston Bride's Cake

The Bride's Cake recommended by the Boston Cooking School takes ½ cup butter, 1½ cups sugar, ½ cup milk, 2½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, whites of 6 eggs, and ½ teaspoon almond extract. It is baked 45 to 50 minutes in deep, narrow pans and covered with white frosting. Mix and sift together the flour, baking powder, and cream of tartar. Break the eggs separately, one at a time, so there will be no loss if one proves stale. Cream the butter, add the sugar, and beat. Add egg yolks, whites (beaten well) last.
Beat well. Butter pans, then dredge with flour, and shake out all extra flour. This gives a smooth surface for frosting.

GREATER INTEREST IN POULTRY

Greater interest in poultry is evident this year from the unusual demand there has been for the breeder to-day strains of poultry produced at the Provincial Poultry Plant at Oliver. Thus far a total of 14,004 chicks have been distributed among farmers and poultry keepers in the province which is several thousand in excess of the quantity distributed in any previous year. This is the second season for Mammoth Incubator at Oliver and the service extended is being taken advantage of
by an increasing number of farmers.
Chicks have been shipped as far north as Berwyn in the Peace River District and as far south as Lethbridge. A total of 250 orders have been filled and for the remainder of the season the big incubator will be taxed to capacity and besides many applicants will be disappointed for many more orders have been received than can be filled. The breeds carried on the Poultry Plant are White Leghorns, the White Wyandottes and the Barred Plymouth Rocks. The chicks distributed are limited to these breeds. The Poultry Plant and the Hatchery is operated by the Poultry Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and serves as a source from which farmers and poultry producers in Alberta may secure better breeding stock to improve the egg production and meat value of their flocks.

Egg Production Service
The Poultry Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture has arranged to give personal direction and instruction in the breeding and management of farm poultry flocks to a limited number of farmers in Alberta who make application and agree to the conditions upon which the service will be given.

On the part of the Department the service will involve the employment of one or more experienced poultrymen who will spend their time visiting the farms of applicants and take direct charge of applicants' various poultry operations.

The service will be given gratuitously providing applicants for two years will undertake to follow the instruction given. The agreement may be cancelled at any time and for any reason by either party.

Only those applicants who will be considered who will undertake to carry a flock of commercial size (from 100 to 200), choose one of the breeds recommended, improve the flock by purchase of high quality hatching eggs, day-old chicks or male or female breeding stock as recommended, re-model the existing poultry house if not suitable or construct a new house according to plans submitted, install proper brooding and feeding equipment if needed, and carry on all feeding, rearing and management operations according to the instructions of the Poultry Branch representative; all of which may involve an initial expenditure of from $200 to $400 on the part of the applicant.

The Department feels that if instructions are followed in detail applicants can be shown how to produce eggs in the high-price period, how to raise production from its present low level to at least 150 eggs per hen per year, how to breed to insure continued improvement in production, how to market to best advantage, how to cut down labor with labor-saving devices, how to insure continued good health in the flock, how to make their poultry one of the best paying departments of the farm and realize at least $4.00 gross revenue per bird.

In order to economize the time of the expert and to give the best service the Department will extend the service to a limited number of those districts from which at least ten applicants are received.

are undoubtedly a light crop, but you need not worry about your preserving requirements. We have been promised plenty of berries to supply all our many customers, and the price will be a little under the average market price. The last week in June will be the big preserving week, which is a little earlier than last year.

APRICOTS

We are advised that not more than three cars of apricots will be produced in all of B.C. this season, and Washington isn't much better off. We are forced to look to California for our 'cots this year. The first shipment will arrive about June 25th, and we shall be pleased to book your orders in advance of that date. The price will be around $2.85 per 4-basket crate.

CALGARY BISHOP VISITS MACLEOD

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Kidd, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Church in the Calgary diocese, was in Macleod this week and officiated at confirmation services. His Lordship, who only recently arrived from Toronto, is delighted with the west and its people, and stated that the more he met of the western people, and the more he saw of the western country, the better he liked them. After the services here Bishop Kidd journeyed to Standoff, where he confirmed a number of children.

This is the Bishop's first official visit to Southern Alberta since his arrival in Calgary from Toronto, a few weeks ago.

REGULAR MEETING BOARD OF TRADE

On Tuesday evening last the regular fortnightly meeting of the Macleod Board of Trade was held at the Rest Rooms. The chief item of business was the discussion of the forthcoming Indian Celebration.

President J. Mountain Horse and several of the Indian Committee were in attendance and reported excellent progress. The Macleod business men had responded nobly with financial assistance, and D. J. Grier and G. Pearson, who were appointed collectors, had no difficulty whatsoever in securing the necessary funds. The members of the Board are certain that the celebration is going to be a big thing for Macleod, and that thousands of visitors will attend.

REGULAR MEETING TOWN COUNCIL

At the regular meeting of the Town Council held on Monday evening last only general routine business was conducted. When Mayor McDonald called the meeting to order a full attendance of Councilors was registered.

The accounts for the month together with the regular school grants were ordered to be paid.

The last monthly Bulletin of the Junior Red Cross for the School year has just been issued to the children in our Alberta Schools.

This interesting eight page paper contains a personal message from the Superintendent to every member, there is also a picture of the Hospital itself with the little patients being carried out to the seven passenger car which a kind friend places at the disposal of the convalescents who are able to enjoy a drive. Accompanying the bulletin is a report form on which the Branches summarize their work for the year.

This is itself an illuminative resume of the possible activities of the Junior Red Cross in the schools. The following questions show the scope of the work for health and citizenship that is within the reach of the Juniors "Have you played the Health Game? Made Health Posters? Put on Health Plays, Made a Portfolio, Sold Xmas Seals, Made Toys? Done Sewing and Knitting? Sent in Donations of Country Produce to the Hospital? Other questions relate to the standard of hygiene maintained in the school, for wherever there is a Junior Red Cross it is presumed the children all strive to keep their health up to standard as part of their pledge as Juniors. It is expected that a great number of children will be present at the Calgary Exhibition this year, and a cordial invitation is extended to all Juniors to visit the Red Cross Stall at the Fair where there will be many features of special interest to the members. Many children will doubtless be glad to visit the Children's Hospital about which they have read so much and for which they have worked so faithfully in their branch concerts and entertainments. Arrangements will be made for visits to be paid if the children will make their requests at the Red Cross Booth.

A cordial invitation is extended to
